

I am opposed to further consolidation of media ownership. A readily accessible press giving voice to a diversity of opinions, investigating stories without corporate censorship, and responsive to local concerns, is crucial to our democratic way of life.